

TWENTY KILLED IN WRECK OF THE "CENTURY" FLYER

Head-on Collision While Passenger Train Was Running at Fifty Miles Per Hour

Over Score of People Injured---Cause of Wreck Not Determined---Coroner Will Hold Inquest and Summon Railway Officials.

Middletown, O., July 5.—The removal from the wreckage on Tuesday morning of the body of a man, the death list in the collision between the Big Four flyer and a Cincinnati-Hamilton and Dayton freight train Monday afternoon will reach 21.

Coroner Burnett, of Hamilton declared Tuesday he could not place the blame for the wreck, but will summon railroad officials and others at the inquest, the date of which he has not fixed.

When dawn came Tuesday the wreckers were still toiling at the scene of the wreck, it being believed there were still one or more bodies beneath the wreckage.

More than half the bodies were recovered within four hours of the time the wreck occurred, but Middletown undertakers Tuesday morning had not completed their tasks.

Many of those who were slightly injured and who remained at hotels and private residences over night had so far recovered Tuesday as to be able to continue their journey, though a number of others, believed not to have been seriously hurt, were unable to walk Tuesday.

One of the unidentified dead is thought to be Prof. John Duxberry of Manchester, England, who had been attending the speech art convention in Cleveland. He is missing.

HINDS AGAIN GROOMED FOR SPEAKER

Portland, Me., July 5.—Now that the nomination of Hinds as speaker of the House has been determined, the first Maine district congressman, from the First Maine district, the anti-Congress members of Congress, are said to have agreed to put Hinds up for speaker. The first man sleeper, "Duvax" was torn asunder. The forward vestibule was a mass of broken timbers and shattered woodwork throughout.

In the smoking car were five passengers at the moment of the collision. Every one was killed.

In the diner were 15 passengers, not one of whom escaped serious injury. Nearly all were killed.

Three women met death in the women's coach, as did some of the male occupants.

Although given a fearful jolting, none of those in the sleepers suffered more than bruises or broken limbs.

EVEN PRISONERS WOULD "MIX" IT

Columbus, O., July 5.—The state prison authorities today are taking precautions to prevent any further outbreaks of violence between the prisoners, who last night rioted and following the loss of discipline, today at Reno, the prisoners have been separated, and each cell has been locked up tonight, and for several days to come, an even calmer than usual.

FIGHTERS RECEIVED PURSE OF $121,000

Reno, Nev., July 5.—The fight which was fought between the two men, who were paid a purse of $121,000, was a real one, and would be paid in and out of court. Each man was a $100,000 man. It was said to be made that arrangement when articles were signed but had not given it out for publication.

It had been rumored that the men were to get a bonus for signing articles, but no official announcement was ever made before. The original purse was $100,000 and to this was added $20,000, making the total sum for the fighters $121,000.

The receipts from the sale of seats are estimated at $25,000. They are not likely to be less. The managers have not yet given out a statement.

JEFF RECOVERING.

Moana Springs, Nev., July 5.—As a result of the constant application of poultices by Mrs. Jeffries, the face of Jim Jeffries, the defeated, this afternoon is beginning to look natural. Jeff appears dazed and says he can remember nothing about the fight. There are rumors that he was doped, but these are denied by his trainers.

RUMORS ARE GROUNDLESS

Salt Lake City, July 5.—Wild rumors that Jack Johnson was shot by an unidentified white man on board the train which is carrying him east today are considered groundless.

BREAK RECORDS AT RHEIMS MEET

Rheims, France, July 5.—Glenn Curtis' world's record for 20 kilometers, 12:12 miles was broken twice today. Leclercq, in a 10-kilometer race, covered the distance in 15 minutes. Hat and later Morane reached that record to 12 minutes and 5 seconds. Curtis' record time was 15 minutes, 30 seconds.

JOHNSON VICTORY COMPLETE

Knocked Out "Pride of the White Race" in Fifteen Rounds

THOUSANDS AT RINGSIDE

Unexpected End of Great Battle at Reno, Nev., on the Fourth.

Reno, Nev., July 5.—Reno is today suffering from a most acute attack of "the morning after."

It is doubtful if the defeat of James J. Jeffries by John Arthur Johnson caused any more genuine and sincere regret in Los Angeles, the home of the ex-champion, than it did here, at the scene of the fight, where the big Californian had not only made scores of friends but had won the confidence of the entire betting community.

Moana Springs was under a pall today. Members of the ex-champion's camp were still dazed and bewildered. Roger Cornell and Farmer Burns, Jeffries' two loyal trainers, were in actual tears today when seen at the camp preparatory for the getaway of the party which will be made this afternoon. Both men had been up practically the entire night ministering to the defeated man, being assisted in their work by Mrs. Jeffries, who insisted that, now the fight was over, her husband again belonged to her, instead of the public and the training camp.

The spectacle of Mrs. Jeffries making poultice for the bruised and battered face of her husband was in marked contrast to that presented in the private case of the conqueror, where Johnson and his white consort were the center of a group of revelers in a merry making bee of the sort which Johnson has been famous. The Johnson party left for the east at 9:55 last night. The banquet which Jeffries had arranged for a party of his most intimate friends for last night, was called off and instead Jeffries partook of a little thin soup, about all he could force through his bruised and badly lacerated lips.

While the fallen idol here declined this morning to add anything to his statement of last night, attributing his defeat to the fact that his youth was gone, it was learned at the camp that he feels bitter toward those who induced him to quit his alfalfa farm and the retirement which he so thoroughly enjoyed.

Jim Corbett is practically the only member of the Jeff camp who takes an "I told you so" attitude. To Corbett's credit, however, it must be said that several days ago he called the turn by declaring that Jeff's lack of boxing was going to show in the ring and his prediction certainly came true.

How They View the Big Fight.

Richard-Johnson is the most wonderful fighter the ring ever knew.

Rev. Alex. C. Jeffries (father of the loser): It is the will of the Lord; let us not be downcast.

Mrs. Johnson (mother of the victor): I knew my honey boy would bring home the bacon.

Mrs. Johnson (wife of the victor): Oh, Jack, I'm so glad you won.

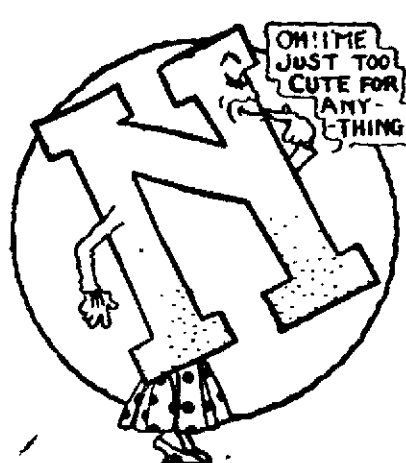

"Big Tom" Sullivan, permanent stakeholder: There is no white man in sight who is likely to wrest the title from Johnson in a hurry.

James J. Corbett: Jeffries had boxed more of his harder with his sporting partner; it is calamity might have been averted.

"Barney" Nelson: Didn't I call it for?

Bob Fitzsimmons: I am willing to take off my shirt to a good fighter but (Continued on page 2, col. 3)

WHAT IS IT?

What other name for money?

Answer to Monday's puzzle: Roman candle.

SPLENDID SERVICE GIVEN DURING RETURNS OF FIGHT

"What's the use of going to Reno?" was the way one fellow standing in front of the vast crowd at the Advocate office put it yesterday afternoon. Hundreds of others thought the same thing as round after round and "hot fight dope" was read through the megaphone from this office.

It was real news right from the ringside. Many of the messages as shown by the filing time in Reno, came through to Newark in two minutes. Never in the history of the city has Newark had such excellent service.

A few minutes after the battle ended the Advocate "extra" was issued. The first few hundred copies were sent to Buckeye Lake park where they were sold like hot cakes as the Advocate beat the Columbus papers to the park by a full half hour. An unfortunate break in the roll of paper on the press delayed the publication for a time but the crowd remained and eagerly bought the papers as they were turned off the huge press in two colors.

The newsboys who continued the sale till 10 o'clock reaped a harvest.

The fight was "covered" to minute details—pictures and all and the many compliments extended to the Advocate for its enterprise fully compensate for all of the expense and hard work the effort cost.

The success of the "extra" was marked. It was the talk of the town. This extra only emphasized the fact that the Advocate leads by a big margin.

Never in the history of the publication of newspapers in Newark, has there been as much interest manifested before a bulletin board. The crowd in front of the Advocate was of such proportions that Chief Zergiebel thought it necessary to detail several patrolmen to keep traffic open.

As the fight was announced by rounds the temper of the crowd was plainly manifested, Jeffries being a prime favorite.

The fight at Reno was witnessed by a number of Newarkites, among whom was Chas. Henry, Chas. Schaller, Harvey Marple, George Bader, Fred Fitzgerald and also Otis King of Granville.

JEFF WOULD HAVE BEEN COUNTED OUT FOURTH'S VICTIMS

Reno, July 5.—George Hartman, 20-year-old timekeeper at the fight, said: "Time was called at 2:45. Johnson entered the ring at 2:28 and Jeffries entered four minutes later. The fight lasted 15 rounds. The time for the last round was 2:27. The fight was stopped at 2:41. In the fifteenth round there were three knockdowns. The first two of these were each of nine seconds' duration. The last one was eight seconds. Then Jeffries' seconds rushed in, and the referee gave the decision to Johnson. There is no doubt that independent of this action, Jeffries would have been counted out."

SNAP OF YOUTH GONE DECLARES BEATEN FIGHTER

(By Jim Jeffries.)
"I lost my fight this afternoon because I did not have the snap of youth I used to have. I believed in my own heart that all the old-time dash was there, but when I started to execute it the speed and youthful stamina were lacking. The things I used to do were impossible. For instance, I used to shoot in a right hand body punch, a sort of short range blow that never used to fail me. But when I tried it today, the snap was not there, and it was only a love tap. I suppose most of my trainers and helpers will say that I did not box often enough. It would not have made any difference if I had sparred a dozen times oftener than I did. I simply was not there, and that's all there is to it. I guess it's all my own fault. I was getting along nicely and living peacefully on my alfalfa farm, but when they started calling for me and mentioning me as 'the white man's hope,' I guess my pride got the better of my judgment. At that, I worked long and hard to condition myself, and I was fit, so far as strength goes, but the old necessary snap and dash, the willingness to tear in and crush were not with me. Six years ago the result would have been different, but now—well, I guess the public will let me alone after this."

Chicago, July 5.—According to messages received here the 1910 Fourth of July victims are:
Killed ..... 92
Injured ..... 1294

"SAFE AND SANE"

Columbus, O., July 5.—Columbus has her first "safe and sane" Fourth this year. In consequence there was not a single accident and no fires.

AT ZANESVILLE

Zanesville, O., July 5.—Zanesville had its first "safe and sane" Fourth yesterday. A picnic at the Fair Grounds was attended by 7000 people.

OUTCLASSED WHITE RIVAL JOHNSON'S EXPLANATION.

(By Jack Johnson.)
"I won from Jeffries because I outclassed him in every department of the fighting game. Before I entered the ring I was certain I would be the victor. I never changed my mind at any time. Jeffries' blows had no steam behind them, so how could he hope to defeat me? With the exception of a slight cut on my lower lip, which was really caused by an old wound being struck, I am unmarked. I heard people at the ringside remark about body blows being inflicted upon me. I don't recall a single punch in the body that caused me any discomfort. I am in shape to batter again tomorrow, if it were necessary. "One thing I must give Jeffries credit for in the game battle he made. He came back at me with the heart of a true fighter. No man can say that he did not do his best. "I believe we both fought fairly. There was nothing said between us that was rough. He joked me and I joked him. I told him I knew he was a bear, but I was a gorilla, and would defeat him. "For the next few weeks I shall play in Sandville. Then I shall go to my home in Chicago to rest. I do not think I shall fight for several months, because I don't know a man now who could give me a good battle. No attention will be paid to Sam Langford's challenges by me. I don't consider he could give me a fight that would draw."

ASKING FOR HER

By OSCAR COX

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

The first view I ever had of Farmer Hodges' daughter Lucy she was wading a stream. Her shoes and stockings she held in her hands and lifted her skirts to her knees. Her hair had fallen down her back, and her straw hat hung from her neck over the hair. She was as pretty a piece of human flesh as I ever saw. I fell in love with her right away and, luckily for me, didn't have much trouble getting her consent to ask her father to give her to me.

The old man owned a stock farm. Among the animals on it was a bay filly, pretty as a picture, that I very much wanted. That was at the same time I wanted his daughter. He set great store by Lucy, and I knew that it would break him all up to lose her. It's no fool of a job to go to a man and ask him to give up the girl he's raised from babyhood, and I didn't have any fancy for it. I rehearsed all I would say to Farmer Hodges. I would introduce the subject by asking if he would sell the bay filly, praise her to the skies, then offer him a big price for her. This would put him in a good humor, taking advantage of which I would ask him for Lucy.

I parted from Lucy at 10 o'clock on a moonlight night at the gate, it being arranged that I should go up the next evening after supper when her father was smoking his pipe on the porch and then there put in my application. I didn't say anything to Lucy as to my intentions with regard to opening the subject, for when we separated I hadn't thought anything about that. I just told her I was going to brace up and ask for her.

It was a hot evening when I called, and the farmer, instead of sitting on the porch, had put his rocker on the grass before it, where he could get more air. He asked me to have a chair that stood beside him, and I sat down for the hardest job of work I ever did in my life.

"Sellin' much stock just now, Mr. Hodges?" I asked.

"Oh, I get rid of a few animals now and then, but I can't say I'm doin' very much."

"Reckon I can take one of 'em off your hands if you and I can agree on a price. I've taken a shine to that little bay filly with one white foot and a white spot on her forehead."

"You mean Lucy, I reckon."

"I was speaking of the bay filly," I stammered, suspecting he had foreboded my real object.

"She's Lucy. I've called her after my daughter. She's a rattin' fine animal."

"You bet," I hastened to chime in return.

"Kind and gentle as a suckin' dove, no mean tricks about her, easy goin', obedient to the ribbons—in fact, she's the best little girl I've got on the place."

"That's just the disposition I want. I wouldn't like any balking or kicking or anything like that. I don't believe in using the whip, but if there's anything vicious I think it ought to be laid on well."

"I wouldn't mind puttin' her through her paces to show you what she can do."

"Oh, it isn't necessary. I've seen her going. She's mighty well put up too. What do you want for her?"

At that moment, looking up, I saw Lucy herself—the real Lucy—at the window. Her father's back was toward her, so he couldn't see her. I faced her. She wore a very peculiar expression. Indeed, she looked mad enough to bite through a nail. What had occasioned this alteration in her since the last time I had seen her I couldn't for my life imagine. The apparition threw me completely out of my reckoning.

"If you want Lucy," the farmer replied, with the deliberate twang of one selling a horse, "you can have her to try. If you like her you can keep her on any terms satisfactory to you. If you don't like her you can turn her back on me."

How much of this my love heard I didn't know, for before it was finished she ducked.

"You'll have to excuse me just now," continued the old man. "There comes a man to make a dicker for some of my racin' stock. Do as you please about Lucy."

It was a terrible disappointment to get no further in the matter, or, rather, not to get to the real object of my visit, but a man came in at the gate and the farmer went to meet him. I looked up at the window where my girl had appeared, but she was not there. I waited till there was nobody about, when she came down and, marching right past me, made for the road. I followed and called to her:

"Lucy! For heaven's sake what's the matter?"

"What do you mean by talking so about me?"

"About you?"

"Yes, I heard you. So you're going to apply the whip, are you? Not on me."

"But, Lucy—"

"And that's what has come over him!" To her of his saying that if you don't like her you can turn her back on me.

I must have been catching her about that, for I heard her say, "I don't like her, but I can't turn her back on me."

LINCHAN-McMAHON

The following account taken from the New York World will prove of interest to the many friends of the bridegroom in this city. Dr. Linchan is a nephew of Messrs. James and Dennis Linchan and before receiving his degree of M. D. made his home here for several years when he was a pharmacist in the Smith drug store, located in the room now occupied by the Collins drug store. The young couple are now on their wedding tour and will probably visit in Newark before returning home. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Linchan were guests at the wedding.

A hundred old women, decked out with pink and gray and white sunbonnets, and almost as many old men in plain gray woollen suits, were honored guests last evening at the wedding of Miss Kathryn Veronica McMahon to Dr. Hulan E. Linchan, the second wedding to take place on Blackwell's Island in more than fifty years. The bride is the second daughter of Edward E. McMahon, steward of the city almshouse, and her sister Mary was married on the Island eight years ago. Both weddings took place in the little Catholic chapel, under the office building. The Rev. John Casey, chaplain of the institution, officiated last evening.

All the inmates of the city home are supposed to be inside the building at 7:30, but last night they were given an additional hour, for the ceremony did not take place till 8. The bride has been stenographer in the office for some time, so nearly every dweller on the Island has come into contact with her. The two side sections of the church were filled with grav, bent old people who had turned out to do her honor.

Her romance, started on Blackwell's Island, too, for three years ago her husband, Dr. Linchan, joined the hospital staff which the city has stationed there. Everything was settled when Dr. Linchan left to establish a practice at No. 74 Norman street, Brooklyn, and to prepare a home for his bride.

She was attended by Miss Mary O'Neil as maid of honor and the single bridesmaid was her younger sister, Miss Helen McMahon. Marion Ark, her little niece, was flower girl. The best man was Dr. A. W. O'Malley of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a classmate of the bridegroom, and the ushers were William Murray, Edward McMahon, Charles McMahon and John McMahon.

Mr. and Mrs. Linchan left last night on their honeymoon. On their return they will live in Brooklyn.

HOT-WEATHER CONSTIPATION

People should be very careful at this time of the year not to become constipated, and if they do become constipated to attend to it promptly. Many people have a special tendency to constipation in hot weather, owing to the sudden change in food and to the fact that the natural moisture of the body that in winter remains within and helps to digest the food, leaves the system in the summer in the form of perspiration. Constipation should be immediately relieved. The best way to do this is not, as some suppose, by eating themselves sick with fruit and making the matter worse, nor by taking salts and laxative waters, which, as all who have tried them know, give but temporary relief; but, on the contrary, you should use a tried-and-true remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts quickly but mildly and which relieves permanently so that a steady and lasting cure results. A bottle can be bought of any druggist, in sizes of 50 cents and $1.00. Those who have not yet tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and would like to make a test of it, can do so FREE OF CHARGE by sending their address for a SAMPLE BOTTLE to DR. W. B. CALDWELL, 400 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Two Kinds of Men.

Two women were discussing two men of their acquaintance who were about to be married.

"John," said one, "is the kind of man who values a woman tremendously until he gets her."

"And Tom," broke in the other, "is the kind of man who values a woman more and more after he gets her. She will grow dearer to him with every passing year."

Then they sat silent awhile thinking of the two men and of the brides-to-be.

One of these men is the kind who "crushes" a girl during courtship days. Nothing is too good for her during this blissful time. His love is at fever point. He showers attentions and gifts upon her. He glares at every man who dares look at her. But after marriage there is a gradual change. He grows careless or indifferent about the attentions of which he has been so lavish. He may at heart really care as much for his wife as he did for his fiancée, and in all probability does. But he does not seem to. He acts as if her value had diminished considerably in his eyes, as if all that he considered she was good for now was to look after his physical comfort, provide him satisfactory meals, keep the house neat and clean, darn his stockings. In a word, she has dropped from being a rare and priceless jewel to somewhat the status of an old shoe. He would probably resent this implication. If it were put to him in just so many words, but it is what his actual conduct implies.

The other man was, perhaps, a quieter, less demonstrative lover. He didn't say so much about his love, nor shower so many attentions upon his sweetheart as did the other. But he will grow more attentive, more thoughtful and tender as the years go by. The wife will be dearer to him than the fiancée. His whole life will become an unconscious offering of himself to make her happy. His constant thought, his every action, will be for her. In his thoughts she will never drop to a commonplace level, she will always be the priceless treasure, the rare jewel, he was so fortunate as to gain for his own.

The two kinds of men are all about. Each home has the one or the other. The man who values his wife more as the years go by never changes. This attitude is a part of himself. The one who will grow to value her less or to act selfishly, could perhaps transform himself into the other kind, if he would recognize whether he was drifting and make an effort to right about face. It means so much to his wife's happiness and by reflex, to his own that it is worth while. For, sifted down, it is after all a matter of selfishness. The one has the great love that never thinks of self. The other lets thoughts of himself and of his own comfort and desires intrude, until they gradually dwarf and perhaps kill, the fine, pure love of early days.

The greater and the more unselfish the love, the happier is the one who loves. The man who treasures his wife more and more as the years go by and shows it by the numberless little acts of devotion that blossom naturally from such love, will make her a wondrously happy woman, will create in the home an atmosphere of unselfish thoughtfulness for each other, and will himself be a happier and more completely developed man.

NEW CORN CURE A REAL MARVEL

Guaranteed and Absolutely Painless.

A corn cure that is painless and that will really do the work has finally been discovered. Heretofore, the poor sufferer from corns has been pestered with "drawing" salves and plasters that swell the corn and has had finally to gouge out the corn and inflict upon himself greater pain. With Hall's Painless Corn Cure all pain ceases on the first application, and then finally corn comes right off easily and painlessly. You don't have to cut and run the risk of drawing blood, making your corns still sore or getting blood poison.

Hall's Painless Corn Cure is better to use than any other. It takes a few seconds to apply it. It is wanted absolutely in every case. You must be satisfied, or back your money.

"The eyes have it," announced the presiding officer at the medical convention that was discussing the subject of sty.

How to Polish Hardwood Floors. To polish hardwood floors melt half a pound of pure beeswax and add a pint of turpentine and half as much ammonia. Stand the mixture over a boiling kettle in order to keep it warm. Apply to the floor with flannel cloth and let stand until quite cold. Now, as to polishing, the merriest and quickest method is to give the children a bark. Collect from the rag bag all the discarded stockings and socks, draw them on over the children's shoes, start a twopenny on the piano, and the children will do the rest. If unfortunately your neighborhood offers no children your second choice of a polisher is an old lady with a piece of brown's corner wrapped around a book. —Frank's Boy.

LASTS longer than several packs of any other corn treatment, and are sure to get rid of corns and calluses. Sold at 25 cents a bottle.

DISAPPOINTMENT AND CALAMITY

This paragraph is quoted from an editorial in a recent issue of the Columbus Dispatch, an independent Republican paper: "When Mr. Burton was elected to the senate from Ohio he was believed to be a zealous champion of the interests of the people. He was supposed to represent a new order of things. As a senator of the United States he shattered these beliefs and suppositions of public opinion in Ohio almost at the beginning.
His record since his elevation to that high office has been more than a disappointment. It has been a calamity."

And yet, when Mr. Burton was a candidate for election to the United States senate by the present Republican legislature he had no more ardent supporters among all the Republican newspapers in Ohio than the Columbia Dispatch.

This being the result of the last senatorial election in Ohio, when the best Republican newspapers in the state bent their energies toward the election of one who "was believed to be a zealous champion of the interests of the people" there is no good reason left for Republican papers to claim that another Republican legislature should be elected this year, no reason except another "disappointment," and they impose another "calamity"
on the state of Ohio.
There will be no such danger, if a legislature is elected with a Democratic majority in both branches. Such legislature is needed to give undivided support to Governor Harmon.
That is the most important consideration. A Democratic legislature will aid of Dick without feigning upon the state a "disappointment," and "calamity" like Burton for the United States senate.

At the new census the city of Newark has upward of 300,000 inhabitants. A very large proportion of the public crib, but by all means are not a few that have complain of their forage.
Near State convention about July 25 in Columbus. The leaders are trying the man to hear and to the observer of the energy in the try-rats throughout the their duty they will trouble themselves

ent Republicans.

Joseph G. Cannon is as per as ever, and obeys the injunction of Zach-Chandler in 1876 to "claim everything." He says: "In all my life I have never seen a situation so full of promise for a Republican victory in the fall." Why, Cannon's party has not been so badly torn up since Blaine was nominated and Cleveland elected as it is now. There was never such a revolt of Republicans against the tariff, and there has not been so much opposition in the party to its own President since Grant.

It was President Taft, not Congress, that accomplished the legislation of the session. Such, at least, is the refrain of the Administration organs and flatterers. Congress merely piled up more than a billion dollars of national expenditure for next year.

NEW CONCRETE BRIDGE AT ST. LOUISVILLE

This illustration is made from a photograph of the new concrete bridge at St. Louisville over the north branch of the Licking river by the Illinois Bridge company of Chicago for the Licking county commissioners. There are two 70 foot spans giving 140 feet of clear waterway.

This concrete arch bridge is built under the Luton patent and is placed on a pile foundation, and the bridge is designed to carry 200 pound per square foot on a factor safety of 10, or a 20 ton road roller.

This means that this bridge will carry the heaviest interurban electric cars, should it be desired to run them across the bridge, or the heaviest highway traffic that will ever be required to cross the bridge. The company installing the bridge says:

"These bridges are more durable than steel or stone, and more economical to build, and they are flood proof, rust proof, fire proof and frost proof, from foundation to parapet they are indestructible.

"This style of bridge requires absolutely no expense for maintenance or repairs, and are guaranteed by a Surety company bond against failure after they are completed.

"There is a demand for permanent bridges, wood is subject to decay, steel will rust and wood floors require renewals that subject the purchaser to continual annoyance for repairs and cause expensive accidents.

"By building a concrete arch bridge properly designed, the County Commissioners have eliminated all future expense that would otherwise be a constant burden on the tax payers of Licking county.

"This concrete structure cost the county less money than a steel bridge and we are now building at Utica, O. a duplicate of this style of bridge which we sold for several hundred dollars less than the lowest bid made for a steel bridge and foundations at the time the contract was let."

The display was one that delighted even the Fourth of July pessimist. The music rendered by the band during the entire evening was greatly appreciated.

Great credit is due the Women's Improvement society, the various committees having the matter in charge, and the people who responded so liberally for the fine display of fireworks, which afforded so much pleasure to all especially the little ones, who were barred from firing firecrackers and other explosives.

Miss Minnie Ticht left Tuesday morning for Van Wert, O., where she will visit Miss Annette Beckford.

Miss Anna Richards of near Mansfield, who has been here during the past week in attendance at the convention of the Y. W. C. A., returned home on Tuesday, having remained over in the village a day or two after the close of the convention.

William Stahl of Tulsa, Oklahoma is visiting his wife and daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thornton.

Miss Mabel Thomas of Cincinnati came up to the village Saturday and remained over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Vincent of Dayton, returned home Tuesday after a short visit with relatives and friends in the village.

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council will be held Tuesday evening, when it is expected that considerable business of importance will be transacted.

Mr. Stewart McClelland of Fredricktown, spent the Fourth in Granville.

Quite a number of Granville people spent the Fourth in the woods north of the village, picnicking, while others went to Newark or Buckeye Lake.

Great interest was taken by Granville people in the Jeffries-Johnson fight, and many of the more enthusiastic sports went down to Newark and heard the returns of the fight read as they were received at the Advocate office.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Conley of Brownsville, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Granville and vicinity during the past several days, returned home Tuesday morning.

WOMEN THROWN FROM BUGGY WERE BADLY INJURED

Misses Lillian and Carrie Jones, of Columbus, the former of whom is head sales lady in the M. C. Latta company store, met with a painful accident while in this city Sunday. They came over for a visit at the home of their nephew, Harry C. Dennis, 11 Granville street, and in the afternoon with Miss Dennis started for a drive toward Granville. An automobile came towards them, shortly after leaving the house. It had a white car, was too at which the horse took fright and whirled, upsetting and damaging the buggy and throwing the ladies into the ditch.

Miss Dennis was uninjured, but Miss Lillian Jones sustained a fracture of the left arm between the elbow and the shoulder and Miss Carrie Jones was badly lacerated and sprained her left leg and thigh in the fall.

Both ladies were taken to the home of Mr. Dennis where they are now confined to their beds. Dr. W. S. Turner was called and attended to their injuries.

ONE MAN KILLED.
Cincinnati, O., July 2.—One killed, and 25 wounded was the Fourth of July record here. A sane Fourth ordinance was passed two weeks ago, but does not go into effect until 1911.

LARGEST CROWD IN HISTORY OF BUCKEYE LAKE

Over 35,000 People Visited the "Atlantic City of Ohio" on Fourth—Yacht Club Regatta.

The Fourth was celebrated by Newark people to the fullest extent. In the city there was no formal celebration of any kind, many taking advantage of the two holidays falling together took short trips out of the city.

Buckeye Lake seemed to be the one bright spot that everybody and everybody's brother was trying to reach. The prospectus there was for anything but a "safe and sane" celebration, and while the crowds were masses of pleasure mad people, even shaped themselves into a safe enough Fourth, for but one or two accidents marred the day. Probably never before was such a crowd assembled at his pleasure resort. As early as Saturday afternoon every hotel was filled and extra cots were placed in every available space, but still the people came, and the park benches furnished sleeping quarters for many. But it remained for Monday to complete the overflow. Every half hour brought cars in sections of eight and every one was just a moving mass of humanity.

It took three days for all the crowd to get there but it seemed that every one wanted to leave last night, and as each car pulled in it took a couple of policemen and some club beating to keep them from being trampled on. A number of women fainted and children were forced against the rail, but fortunately the "bull pens" were not used as the people were lined up on the outside and just enough were let out to fill the cars.

Over 25,000 people were at the Park, which is probably the greatest number ever assembled there before in its history, but it was a remarkably well ordered crowd and no trouble was had at any time.

Several extra attractions were added for the day. First and foremost being the morning being the big regatta given by the Buckeye Lake Yacht club. The races included power, row and sail boats and a swimming contest. The Yacht club entertained at the club house during the three days and on the Fourth the Dispatch Newsboys' band furnished entertainment.

A vaudeville theatre was erected just off the dance pavilion and here vaudeville and motion pictures were seen for the first time at the Park, and the toboggan slide, the figure eight and all the other amusements were well patronized.

Thousands were still at the park at midnight and at 1.15 o'clock the morning a train of five cars left for Newark. Many were forced to spend another night at the park in spite of previous arrangements.

Rigel Park was visited by a great number of people, and the shows and attractions were filled during the day. In the evening an elaborate display of fireworks was given.

The regatta given at the lake was the greatest ever put on by the Buckeye Lake Yacht club and was most successful owing to the large number of entries and capable way in which it was conducted. In the Grand Buckeye Lake handicap race, the cup valued at $500 given by the Ohio Electric was captured by the Alladin, belonging to Dr. Latham in Columbus. The races resulted as follows:

CONFERENCE AT GRANVILLE COMES TO END

Granville, O., July 5.—The Y. W. C. A. Conference which has been in session here during the past week, came to an end with the meeting at the Baptist church on Sunday evening, and the delegates have mostly returned to their homes. The conference has been one of the most profitable as well as interesting that has ever been held by the Y. W. C. A. and many are the regrets made by the delegates that it has come to a close. During their stay in Granville nothing has been too good for them, and they all have had a most enjoyable time. The good work done by the lecturers and speakers during the convention will not be lost upon the hundreds of young women who have attended the sessions of the convention.

FOURTH WAS QUIET DAY IN NEWARK

In comparison with other Fourth of July celebrations in Newark in the past, the one this year was very tame, and may be classed as being among the sane celebrations of many towns in the state. While Young America has not in force from the early hours of Monday, celebrating with patriotic enthusiasm, there seems to have been an absolute dearth of the usual serious accidents which have attended the celebration of Independence Day. In fact, Newark enjoyed her first sane Fourth Monday. It was a new experience for the people of Newark and they relished it. While here were a few boisterous demonstrations on the part of some, taken as a whole, the day was marked with quiet and peace. In years gone by here have always been a number of accidents, some of them of a very serious nature, while there have been a number of minor accidents, and here have also been any number of fires, which have been directly attributable to the indiscriminate use of fireworks. On some occasions the fire alarm has sounded very few minutes after dark, and the firemen were out on the pump responding to calls. This year all has been changed. An advocate reporter was informed by Chief Bausch that there was not a single alarm of fire sent in all day Monday, and although the firemen held themselves in constant readiness, here was nothing done. As far as the Advocate could learn there was not a single serious accident in the city on the Fourth. A large number of children were called up Tuesday morning all of whom said that they had no business in the accident in the Fourth. It was a new experience for them and was a pleasant relief from binding up dangerous ground.

In the evening there was a brilliant display of fireworks on the public square which was greatly enjoyed by the thousands of people that thronged to streets. The display of fireworks made by the Citizens on West Main and Church streets, was especially cautious in finishing something new on the people. They certainly deserve credit for their patriotism even if it is to not tell under and the significance of the celebration.

Come to the Demonstration

THE "CALORIC" does better cooking and baking than is possible by any other method. That may sound like a strong statement to you who do not know the possibilities of this wonderful time and labor saving stove, but it is founded upon absolute results. Foods cooked in the "CALORIC" are far more nutritious and palatable. The delicate, delicious flavor of meats are far more savory when cooked the "CALORIC" way because none of the wholesomeness is lost by evaporation.

The "CALORIC" roasts and bakes food in its raw state without first partially cooking it in an ordinary stove or reheating it before serving.

If you have ever tasted food cooked in the "CALORIC" Cookstove you cannot realize the vast difference in flavor.

COME TO OUR STORE THIS WEEK and let us demonstrate to you how you can reduce your meat and grocery bills with a "CALORIC" Fireless Cookstove. Come and bring your friends.

WORKING ALL THE TIME

Sometimes when people want anything they look in the newspapers to where to get it. If they want the services of a minister, a carpenter, a plumber or any other kind of tradesman, they expect to find a card in the paper. They look at it. If they find one they call the advertiser. But the advertiser, ever slow to think what your ad in the newspaper is doing for you? When you close your store in the evening and go home your family and friends, not thinking about your business at all, the ones from which your trade is drawn. And there is your ad doing its work silently, but surely.

COULD NOT WALK ACROSS THE ROOM

Parents of Growing Girls Should All Be Interested in This Ohio Case.

When the young girl develops into womanhood there is always the danger of a general breakdown unless the blood is pure and red. This is especially true if she overstudies or overworks.

It is a danger, however, that can be easily averted if the warning symptoms of impoverished blood are promptly heeded. Pallor, loss of spirits, depression, lack of ambition and aversion of breath are some of these symptoms which can not be mistaken. To ensure healthful development steps must be taken at once to build up the blood, whenever these symptoms are present. The experience of hundreds of women has proved that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine for this purpose. They are a certain blood builder and strengthen and give health to the entire body.

Mrs. W. R. Bailey, who lives on R. F. D. No. 3, Chillicothe, Ohio, near the Sulphur Jack Springs, gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to her daughter after other remedies had failed. She says:

"Last fall my daughter, Ora, aged sixteen, took a heavy cold at an unfortunate time. She was sick for three months and was confined to bed for a week. She was all run down and suffered from severe nervous spells and headaches. She was pale and kept losing in flesh right along. If she attempted to walk across the room she would become exhausted and I was compelled to take her out of school.

"One day as I was reading a paper I saw that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured cases like hers and began at once to have her take them. They helped her almost at once, her color came back and she grew stronger. After giving the pills a thorough trial she was cured and able to attend school and has been strong and healthy since."

Parents of girls who go into decline as they reach the period of development should not neglect the first warning symptoms for the whole future health of the child depends upon the way in which she passes this critical time.

If you desire full information about this treatment, write for a copy of our free booklet, "Plain Talks to Women." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

A dispatch from Washington says the official announcement has been made by the mediators that an amicable adjustment of the controversy between the railroads in the south-eastern territory and their conductors and trainmen has been reached. The agreement signed provides for a substantial increase in the wages of the employees and improved conditions and hours of labor. The adjustment also will avert a threatened strike of 10,000 men, which would have involved approximately 40,000 others. The settlement is regarded as a distinct victory for the employees, although concessions were made by both sides.

While no statement was made concerning the terms of settlement, it is known that the men have been granted an increase of wages ranging from 10 per cent to 40 per cent. It is impossible in the present condition of the arrangement effected, definitely to state what increase are given to the several classes of labor. This seeming concession results from the fact that the several railway lines employ different methods of computing their wage scale. Some of the men received a per diem wage, others receive pay in accordance with the number of miles they cover each day, and yet others are paid according to the distance they travel and the speed made by their trains.

It was appreciated by the financial heads of several of the railway systems that a strike of such magnitude might spell bankruptcy for several of the lines. They said frankly that they were not in such financial condition as would warrant a heavy increase in wages.

It is a wonder that some of those passionate ponies couched in words that burn don't set fire to the waste basket.

NOBLE DYKEMAN

Henry Dykeman's mind was occupied with deeds of daring. Our little set of newspaper reporters—Dykeman was one of us—was constantly treated by him to some fanciful exploit in which he had been engaged, though he modestly left all the credit to some one else. At one time he had come upon a man overpowered by footpads just in time, with the assistance of others, to drive the rascals off. At another he had rescued a child from the fourth story of a burning building, mentioning, by the way, that a woman had been rescued from the fifth story by some one else under far more difficult circumstances. Then there were constant encounters with men in the "dives," where Dykeman considered it necessary to go in the pursuit of some of his assignments for criminal news. Occasionally some one not acquainted with him would hear him recount these episodes and sneer, but those of us who belonged to the "gang," as we disrespectfully referred to ourselves, believed that Dykeman was simply suffering from having got into the wrong sphere of life and his stories of adventure were hissings of steam from his safety valve.

"You were missing last night, Dykeman," I would say to him at dinner when we were assembled at the little restaurant in the alley where we all dined together. "Where do you spend your evenings when off duty?"

"Last night—let me see. Ah, I remember! Last night I was walking on a street when a woman threw up a window in a house I was passing and cried for help. I went in and found a thief, who had got into the second floor of the house while the family were at dinner, just climbing down a latticework from a rear porch. I reached over and, seizing his coat collar, drew him up. Just then a policeman entered, and I turned him over."

"Did any one else come in for any of the credit?" asked one of the gang.

"Yes; it was all due to the woman who called for help. She had induced the man to enter a closet by assuring him that he would find the silver there, and when she got him in she slammed the door and turned the key. However, the door was frail, and he broke it down. I tell you she was plucky, that woman."

"But where were you the night before and the night before that? You are never with us any more. Do you rescue some one every night?"

A pained expression came over his face, and I hastened to add:

"Never mind, dear boy. You shall spend your evenings where you please."

Nevertheless curiosity got the better of us, and many were our discussions as to how Dykeman occupied his leisure hours. One said that he was secretly taking boxing lessons, another that he had joined the militia and was giving all his spare time in drill. Dykeman himself when twitted with the subject gave out that he had a job to shadow a multimillionaire.

Time gave no explanation, so at last we concluded to hunt up one for ourselves. Choosing an evening when we were all off duty together, we made our arrangements to follow Dykeman.

"Will you go to the theater this evening?" I asked him. "We are all off tonight and can take in any show you like."

"Thanks. I would like to be with you, but you see—"

"I don't see."

"Well, then, there is a bank."

"Which is to be robbed tonight?"

"How did you know that?"

"Never mind. Go on."

"They need some man who is quick on the trigger, who has plenty of muscle."

"That will do. Business before pleasure. You can go to the theater with us some other evening."

We left Dykeman sitting over a glass of sour wine and sallied forth, ostensibly to the theater, really to places of concealment, from which we watched him as he came out, then followed him. He soon stopped at a candy store, from which he emerged with a paper of sweets.

"Is he going to head off the bank robbers by popping them with bouquets?" remarked one of the "gang."

A second stop was at a fruit stand, where he purchased some luscious peaches and yellow bananas.

"I see," said another. "He's going to scatter the skins on the floor in front of the vault, and the robbers will find their feet in the air and themselves on their backs."

There were no more stops till Dykeman entered a little frame trap on the outskirts of the city. He went in at the door, and we took position at the window. A dim light shone within, and there was half an inch of space between the window shade and sill through which we peered from the outside. A little girl of some seven or eight years was lying on a couch. Her cheeks were thin, her eyes were large and lustrous, with disease, and their expression as they flared upon the great muscular figure of Dykeman was that of one who had waited hungrily for him all through the day. She threw her thin arms about him as he bent over her and patted his broad back, the only manifestation of her delight visible to us now that he was between her and us. Then the candy and the fruit came out, and then—

Then something like shame came over us for eavesdropping, and one by one we drew away from the window and the sight of this man, who was screening his tenderness and gentleness with his stories of muscular prowess, and the child he had rescued and to whom he was devoting his life.
